I personally believe that you have perpetrated a gross abuse of the trust of the American people. I am both annoyed and dumbfounded by the choice (by the current Justice Department [a descriptor that I am using loosely mind you]) to let Microsoft off with a simple wrist slap. You have most decidedly made my mind up as to how to vote in the next National election. You have proven to me that the current Justice Department is purely partisan in nature, and apparently willing to sell out individual Americans in favor of Corporate America.
